

Leadership Fundamentals for Energy Specialists

Leadership is Inspiration, Not Authority

Introduction

Leadership is an activity, not a person, and your followers will be influenced by your deeds, not by what you say. As a result, in order to motivate and inspire your team to achieve the intended corporate goal, you must develop your leadership presence, authority, and purpose.

However, the action is not limited to a title; it is continual. Your ability to lead must develop together with you. Building relationships is essential if you want to have an impact on increased output.

Building your people is essential for them to be able to manage their teams, and maintaining success in a world that is always changing is the last step. The goal of this training course, Leadership Fundamentals for Energy Specialists, is to provide you the tools you need to become a more successful leader. You will start to see progress and achieve things you never would have imagined possible by putting these leadership abilities to use on the assignments and difficulties you encounter at work.
