

Master Class in Board Leadership

Serving on the Executive Committee and Contributing to the Success of Your Organisation

Introduction

The goal of this Course N Carry training programme is to help board members and those who aspire to be board-level directors in the near future greatly improve their leadership effectiveness. Effective boardroom leadership is essential to the success of any organisation, and directors who are unable to meet the responsibilities and expectations of their positions will probably find themselves and their companies at a significant disadvantage. Investors concur, and they often list the calibre of the leadership team as the most significant non-financial consideration when assessing a fresh initial public offering.

Participants will learn how astute leadership may double their effectiveness as well as connect with the tasks and responsibilities of the board on a basic level during this five-day dynamic and engaging training session. They will get knowledge on how to motivate exceptional output and guide people through transitions. They will also develop their ability to think strategically and become astute creators of corporate culture. Delegates will thus be prepared to step up their performance when they return to their organisations.
